Victoria News

The Victoria Chronicle of the 29th ult., contains the following:

ARRIVAL OF THE TELEGRAPHIC CABLE —The American ship Helios, Capt Greenleaf, nine days from San Francisco, arrived yesterday morning The Helios has on board the submarine telegraph cable, for this end of the State Telegraph Line, and a large reel, which will be used in laying the cable. The cable will be discharged on Trounce's wharf to-day, and as Mr. Haine, Assistant Superintendent of the Telegraph Company, is in town arrangements will no doubt be made to have the line laid and in working order from Victoria to San Francisco in a very short time.

A GOOD REPORT —We learn that a portion of the anthracite coal sent below by the Queen Charlotte Company, was tested at San Francisco in the Fulton Foundry and pronounced to be of good quality and nearly equal to the best Lehigh.

IT IS DIFFICULT to procure a crew for foreign ports just now, Big Bend attracts our surplus population, and sends wages up The captain of the Ship St John, a vessel bound for Melbourne, Australia, offered $75 per month for able bodied seamen, but failed to get a complement.

PORK CURING —Capt Reeder, of Coveland, Whidby's Island, has commenced to smoke bacon and hams on his farm there, and will have a large quantity ready for this market in about a fortnight This is a branch of business that might be profitably followed by our farmers Hogs thrive better than any other stock, are inexpensive and the meat is always in demand.

RECOGNIZED STATES —The President has relieved Provisional Governor Marvin, of Florida, and recognized Hon D. S Walker as the constitutionally elected Governor of the State.

Some persons appear to attach a sort of authoritative significance or "saving grace" to the little flourish of trumpets with which the Governors appointed by the President are directed by the President to turn over their offices to the Governors elected by the voters whom the President has made The phrase "constitutionally elected Governor," when accompanied by the imposing formula of "recognized by the President," has the same force in some minds as if by some law or valid authority, the status of the State organization had been settled, and hereafter they were on a footing with Massachusetts or Illinois This is by no means the case, however About the only effect of such an order is that the contingent fund, in the hands of the Federal Administration, ceases to be liable for the payment of the new Governor's salary, and the experimental machine of State Government is thrown upon its own financial resources

But if the President, instead of recognizing Florida as a State in the Union, had recognized it as an independent foreign State, such as it declared itself to be by its ordinance of secession in 1861 none will suppose that Florida would thus become an independent power And yet the President has rather more power to recognize a new State out of the Union than a new State within the Union, since in the former case he needs only the concurrence of the House of Congress, while in the latter he needs that of both branches of Congress After, as before these Presidential recognitions, the State government of the Southern States are provincial and military merely They derived their inception from the President's proclamation and they have all, and no more, of the properties of an American State, than by the Constitution the President is empowered to bestow upon them As adjuncts to enable the people, or a portion of them, to assist the President in maintaining order and restoring industry, they are better than martial law, and hence we approve the President's policy in instituting them But they are in reality provisional, and in a certain sense unconstitutional governments, until the Federal Government, by act of Congress signed by the President, enacts them into States of the Union In the meanwhile Congress has the power to make such laws for the government and reconstruction of these territories as it deems proper, and necessary to their admission to seats in its body, without which they cannot be States in the Union

CHANGE OF POPULATION AT MOBILE —The Mobile Tribune says the city directory has been issued It contains 7 000 names The population of Mobile is 50 000 and only about one third of the old names in the directory of 1860, are on the new one of 1866. The population is changing in all the large cities of the South The inevitable Yankee will go there in spite of every discouraging circumstance

Extracts from late Eastern Papers

THE NEW STEAM FRIGATE CHATTANOOGA —The United States steam frigate Chattanooga is now completed and ready for sea Her engines have been subjected to the usual ninety six hours trials at the Navy Yard in Philadelphia and have fully justified expectation. She will start on her trial trip in a few days, and on her return will probably make a trip to Europe She will be commanded by Captain J McKinstry, a gentleman well known to New Yorkers for his prompt suppression of the naval bounty frauds and the sweeping reform which he instituted when he took command of the receiving ship North Carolina in 1864. All the officers of the Chattanooga belong to the regular naval service, and she is said to be the only vessel in commission which has no volunteer officers The Chattanooga having been constructed solely with a view to speed, it is confidently expected that with her great length sharp lines and powerful engines she will make at least thirteen knots an hour She was built by Cramp & Sons, of Kensington, and is a wooden propeller frigate of the following dimensions Length 335 feet breadth of beam, 44 feet, depth of hold, 21 feet draft of water when fully equipped 17 feet; 3,284 tons burden She is the sharpest propeller man-of-war ever built in this country, and if there is anything in the model she has all the qualities of the fastest vessel afloat Her armament to [illegible] of sixteen [illegible] guns, ten and eleven-inch caliber and one rifle pivot on the forecastle —N Y Evening Post.

THE WHITE MAN'S GOVERNMENT —President Johnson's Governor of Texas, lately sent a message to the Reconstruction Convention of that State, in which occurs the following passages

It is a favorite phrase of many that "this is a white man's Government;" and it is declared to be the solemn duty of those who represent the people, at the present time, to take care that it shall continue to be so. I thank God that this is a White man's Government; and I humbly trust that the time will never come when it shall cease to be so. But if, by the declaration that this is a White man's Government, it is meant that the black man is to be excluded from its benefits, and forever wholly debarred from the exercise of political privileges under it, then I most respectfully take issue with the proposition as a matter of fact, and with the views of those by whom it is maintained Black men do now enjoy, and have long enjoyed, the exercise of political privileges, as well as of civil rights, under the Government of the United States

"The election of a President of the United States might by possibility be determined by the votes of black men, in the great State of New York. Is it, then, a matter of fact that this Government is not the Government of the black as well as of the white? And if in the past, black men have enjoyed civil rights and been admitted to the exercise of political privileges under the Government of the United States, is it likely that the [illegible], which is regarded by a majority of the [illegible] as a [illegible] and glorious event in the history of the human race, will not be followed, in due time, by the enlargement of the rights and privileges of the people who are [illegible] enfranchised?

"In my judgment, gentlemen it is the part of [illegible] to provide in the organic law of the State that the [illegible] men in our midst shall enjoy civil rights on an equality with the white population of the State More than this, I believe it would be unwise to exclude the freedmen, in our midst from the exercise of political privileges, by making the enjoyment of those privileges [illegible] the accident of birth or color."

THE [illegible] IN [illegible]

The [illegible] Commercial has a letter from a correspondent traveling through Mississippi, who states that the barbarous Vagrant law recently passed by the [illegible] State Legislature is rigidly enforced, and under its provisions the freed slaves are rapidly being [illegible] The negro is allowed to buy, rent, or lease any real [illegible] minors of any value are taken from their parents and bound out to planters; and every freedman who does not contract for a year's labor is taken up as a vagrant. The officers of the Freedmen's Bureau are often [illegible] and the [illegible] are kept back, by the [illegible] complaining Finally, as the writer estimates, it would take an army of 20 000 men to compel the planters to do justice to the freedmen.

JOHN MINOR BOTTS [illegible] TO VIRGINIANS.

John Minor Botts has just [illegible] to the people of Virginia. He says:

I would [illegible] forty seats in the [illegible] the Presidency [illegible] If it were [illegible] than see that [illegible] power again except that such a position would [illegible] to crush it at the [illegible] by any other [illegible]

After [illegible] legal authorities to [illegible] his views of the illegality of the President's pardons, Botts closed his letter as follows:

Now, I want it to be understood [illegible] a pardon has been granted that I [illegible] to be revoked; there is no man that I have cared to see pronounced an alien by the law, provided full justice is done to the Union men, of whom there are from thirty to fifty [illegible] in this State, and who would openly proclaim their [illegible] if it were not for the terror of public opinion and the fear of [illegible] from the [illegible] press; but if there are [illegible] a handful—a baker's dozen—or if I stood alone, I would demand it for all; therefore I call upon every Union man in the North and in the State to stand up for their rights.

"LOYAL" MILITIA OF [illegible]

A letter from Vicksburg supplies the following of the by-laws adopted by a company of [illegible] Militia recently organized at the capital of that State and to whose care it is proposed to surrender that part of the State:

"The Company votes to adopt the regulations and tactics of the Confederate Army

No one admitted as a member of the Company who was not in the Confederate Army, or who was not true to the Confederate cause. [Motto—'Try us' [illegible]]

The uniform to be gray, but the button and [illegible] of rank to be the same as in the United States Army

It is in favor of such an organization that the United States troops have been withdrawn from half the [illegible] Territory. The prospect is a delightful one for loyal men—be they white or black.

Montana News

THE LYNCHING OF DANIELS.

It will be recollected that in February, Gov. [illegible] ordered the release of Daniels the murderer, and that Judge Munson, of the U S District court ordered him re-arrested. The Post of March 10th, contains the following account of subsequent proceedings.

The Judge as in duty bound, forthwith ordered the arrest of the liberated criminal, and then returned to Helena, with the Acting-Marshal's order to his deputy, John Featherstun, to secure the runaway who had fled, it was supposed, to that vicinity There was no such intention as flight in the mind of Daniels. He went there to revenge himself on the [illegible] as he had the [illegible] At Duston's Hot Spring Ranch, 15 miles from Helena, a reliable man informed Judges Munson and Strickland that Daniels had told him, when he passed in the [illegible] that he was "going to Helena to attend to one or two jobs of men who had testified against him" A fit subject for mercy was Daniels, surely This news arrived in town almost as soon as he did He seemed to feel intuitively, that something was brewing that boded no good for him, and he went to Featherstun, who was yet without orders, and asked his protection It was at once [illegible] in the form of permission to stay at the office, and at night that officer accompanied him to the place where he was going to sleep At Daniel's special request Featherstun went around town to see if he could gather any information of a suspicious kind as regarded any proposed attempt on the person of the culprit No symptoms were discovered, and he returned to [illegible] Daniels that he was safe. On arriving at the store he was apprised of his having been taken away by parties unknown to the occupants of the store, and in the morning his lifeless corpse was found suspended from the [illegible] tree in Dry Gulch

INDIAN FIGHT AT SUN RIVER.

A letter from Helena, dated March 5th, says:

On the afternoon of March 1st, an engagement took place between a band of Blood warriors and a party of whites at the Sun River Bridge, one of the whites James Malone, being badly wounded in the right side. One Indian was killed in the fight and three others that were captured were immediately hanged The Blackfeet, Bloods and Piegans are reported, by reliable parties that arrived in Helena yesterday, to be nearly all in open hostility to the whites Of four men who left Fort Union some time ago, with an express for Fort Benton, only one has been heard from He is reported to have been found with his back pierced with arrows, and it is supposed that his three companions were also killed by the red devils Horse stealing is extensively carried on, over 20 head having been recently stolen at Sun River alone The [illegible] and [illegible] at Sun River are fortifying and will act purely on the defensive, until their numbers are increased They do not feel strong enough to meet the savages in the open field but will hold their present position at all hazards. Expresses have been sent to all small parties of whites east of the Prickly Pear Divide, requesting them to rally for defense at Fort Benton and Sun River

THREAT OF USING FORCE —We notice the following in the Chicago Republican of February 23d:

The threat that the President will employ military force to put down Congress which has for some time been cherished as something shocking and delightful by journals of the baser sort, both North and South, is naturally caught up by the Chicago Times and applied to the present crisis That journal bids the Radicals in Washington to take warning that "the land and naval forces will be used to suppress insurrection wherever found; that they will be employed to overcome obstructions to the execution of the laws, whether those obstructions occur at Richmond, Mobile or Washington This do the new supporters of President Johnson urge him on to commence another civil war by an act of usurpation and treason more audacious and wicked than ever committed by Jefferson Davis or Robert E Lee

THE IMMENSITY OF GERMAN EMIGRATION —The London Times says that eighty thousand Germans emigrated last year via Hamburg and Bremen About 15,000 more it is calculated left for the same destination by way of France, England and Belgium The Hamburg American Steamship Company are just doubling the number of their ships expecting a like influx of passengers in the immediate future. If political dissatisfaction remains as strongly pronounced in Germany as it now is their anticipations no doubt will be fulfilled Contrary to what was formerly the case when very poor people would lay by a few thalers to carry them over, a considerable portion of emigrants now consist of small farmers with a thousand or two of thalers in their pockets

"The O'Meara" goes out to Fight, but Comes back to Bail

The Confederate Democrat of the 24th ult. contains a column and more, entitled, "A liar pilloried." This harmless effusion is written in the true Bombastes Furioso vein—starting out with whetted tusks all foaming for fight, but ending with the squeak of a provoked but harmless pig The story is all about "Dr Lee of Corvallis" and the coveted "twenties" which it now appears beyond doubt that "The O'Meara" never got for supporting Johnson For the benefit of the curious in such things, we condense the attenuated narrative.

The valiant Jimmy first writes a letter to Dr Lee, demanding an explanation of the unpleasant [illegible]. He has heard that the Doctor "asserted and declared" that he had the money, but and more's the pity—he knows that he has not. His pockets are innocent of the weighty charge, and the discrepancy between the story and his cash account calls for an explanation. This letter was duly delivered by "our friend Smith"—Mr. Green B Smith, (we love to be particular and polite when speaking of the Smiths, for who knows but that we may be writing the name of one of the descendants of Captain John of Virginia, the charmer of Pocahontas). But though "the mails run regularly between Corvallis and Albany," no reply came to this inquiry. Then Jimmy, like Paul when he saw "the three taverns," took courage, went a step further, and wrote a letter peremptory to the Doctor on "the paternity or asseveration" of "the atrocious slander" aforesaid This letter (No. 2) is also handed to him (the Doctor) "by our friend Smith" It consists of seven distinct paragraphs, is dated "Corvallis, March 20, 1866," and signed after the manner of all high-toned, Hectors bent upon an affray. "Your ob't serv't, James O'Meara," omitting the Dennis entirely. The latter hints at blood, but there is nothing certain. It abounds in elegant ambiguities, and might have been culled (and [illegible]) from the writings of Sir Piercy Shafton, the renowned euphuist of Scott's Monastery. The letter closes with a formal admonition from the writer to the Doctor that he would treat him entirely in conformity with his own sense of propriety. What O'Meara's "own sense of propriety" is will best be seen in the sequel.

As may be seen from the date, J[illegible] went also to Corvallis in his own proper person. Arrived there, he lies in wait around town, probably in Gird's grocery, "a reasonable time," until nearly noon of Wednesday, to afford Dr. Lee an opportunity to take such action as he might see proper in the affair"—that is, to tread upon his coat tail, or give him any other provocation which would justify our heroic little humbug in slaying his adversary at once. But nothing comes of this [illegible] demonstration. The Doctor probably referred the proposed "treatment" to the medical faculty, who will doubtless advise thereof; and Jimmy returns safely to his sanctum, (whether with or without "our friend Smith," the story does not tell,) there to publish, with great gusto, this [illegible] and minute account of "our" [illegible] and bootless exploits. In conclusion, he [illegible] "Dr. Lee of Corvallis a [illegible], wilful and malicious liar;" but considerately adds "this is all we have at present to say or do in the matter."

We feel easier for the Doctor and all others [illegible] "in the exact terms by which" he is stigmatized. This "is very plain English" and [illegible] no blows or derringers at least. For, at present, we have the word of this dangerous little fellow that he forbears to further harm him or us. Come what may, upon this pledge we rest secure and have no fears of the loss of sleep or of the appearance at night of spectral monsters. Having hurled at the head of the Doctor and others, (i.e. ourselves included) the epithet which implies a strong doubt of one's veracity, aggravated and intensified by the avalanche of adjectives—"wanton, wilful and malicious," our whilom Porcine Pedagogue lowers his bristles and relapses into a state of peace and scurrility. "O Jimmeo, Jimmeo, wherefore art thou, Jimmeo?" After this, go turn your shooting iron into a potato hook and talk of blood no more. Like Nym, the enemy of ancient Pistol, "you dare not fight, but you can wink and hold out your iron; it is a simple one, and will toast cheese and endure cold as another man's sword will," and this is all the virtue it possesses in your hands. And if so be, you are again charged with the taking of "twenties," of which you can only regret you never saw the color, stick to your lawful weapon, the stink-pot of noxious epithets and sulphurous adjectives. Again we say, "O Jimmeo, Jimmeo, wherefore art thou, Jimmeo?"

INCIPIENT DEMOCRACY —The New York Times, as all know, is persistent in its adherence to Johnson as against Congress. In a late article it says:

> "When the Democracy recover power, they will wipe out the present organization, throwing the force back into the hands of Fernando Wood."

The paper which talks thus hopefully and confidently about the recovery of power by the Democracy, is the "good Union journal" which is so much quoted among conservatives and copperheads When Henry J Raymond, the pet of the Administration, expressed so significant a sentiment as the above, it may be rightly said to him, in the language of the king to the son whom he reproved:

> "Thy wish is father, false one to the thought"

The Salem Review publishes a column appeal to the convention at Portland to nominate nobody who has not been a faithful and consistent Democrat all through the days when the party was in the Valley of the Shadow of Death The test of a good Democrat having been decided at the Dalles to be one who has been "all the time a secessionist and rebel," and Jo Teal being the only Democrat who has been publicly declared fully up to that test we suppose Jo is the man the Review has in its eye Jo however would be a very respectable candidate compared with some of the others talked of If he don't get the nomination for Congress it will be because the convention finds somebody who was all the time a more bitter "secessionist and rebel" than Jo, and therefore, a more faithful and consistent Democrat.

Major General Rosecrans arrived at San Francisco, from the East, on the 24th of last month.

State Items

Some weeks ago we mentioned the discovery of a copper lodge seventy feet in width, situated about twenty five miles east of Grand Ronde valley. Recent investigations show that a very rich vein of silver ore exists within the lodge We have seen some of this argentiferous rock which had been subjected to the heat of a common fire, and which showed globules of silver all over it. This streak of silver bearing rock is thirty six inches in width

W W Thompson formerly a captain in the 1st Regiment of Washington Territory Infantry is now employed as a messenger by Wells Fargo & Co If he proves as good a messenger as soldier he will be a valuable acquisition to the Express Company

Orders have been issued, we learn, for the establishment of a permanent military post near Harney Lake, in south eastern Oregon Major Marshall of the 14th U S Infantry now at Fort Boise is to have charge of the location and construction A considerable force of cavalry is to be sent into that region against the Snakes, as soon as transportation of supplies becomes practicable

We are informed that the organization of a company for the exploration of the region of south-eastern Oregon where the emigrants of 1847 were lost is in contemplation at the Dalles Some late discoveries in that direction have stimulated this movement The pestiferous Snakes have hitherto prevented prospecting in that country

Mr Gaston informs us that the project of bringing water by a canal from the North Yamhill into the town of Lafayette is a failure, Lafayette being too high or the river being too low, to admit of water running into town unless some other than the force of gravitation, be discovered

Up Country News

We find the following items in the Walla Walla Statesman of the 30th ult:

MEETING OF MERCHANTS AND SHIPPERS

Pursuant to call, a meeting of the merchants and shippers of Walla Walla, was held at the Court House, on Saturday, the 24th inst, to take into consideration the oppressive action of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company in requiring the payment of freights previous to delivery On motion, H P Isaacs was called to the Chair and A Kyger appointed Secretary Every mercantile house in town was represented and after a free interchange of opinion, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted by a unanimous vote

WHEREAS, The merchants and shippers of Walla Walla have been subjected to serious inconveniences, delay and additional cost by the action of the O S N Co, in demanding payment of all freight money on merchandise passing through their hands to be paid at Wallula before delivery, instead of being paid at this place as heretofore, they regard it as oppressive and unjust, inasmuch as all bills have been promptly paid on presentation Therefore,

Resolved, That our interests demand that we procure an Agent at Wallula to pay bills, make reclamations and receive and forward goods.

Resolved, That Messrs Schwabacher McKee Boyer and Scheideman are empowered to make an arrangement with a suitable person at a rate not exceeding that now charged by the O. S. N Company for that service

UPPER COLUMBIA STEAMER

Mr Briggs, Purser of the Steamboat Forty-nine on the Upper Columbia, passed through this city on his way up a few days ago. He informed us that the boat would in all probability, start for the new mines above on or before the 10th of April The ice, he had no doubt would be out of the Lakes by that date sufficient to admit the passage of the steamer Persons intending to go to the new mines can therefore govern themselves in starting accordingly

THE WEATHER

With occasional intervals, the weather in this valley continues cold and damp Occasionally we have a glimpse of the sun but this is the exception, and for the most part we have weather that would do credit to the web foot country, or any other inhospitable climate With the people of this valley it is virtually 'Winter lingering in the lap of Spring.'

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Our attention is called to the fact that packages of mail matter deposited in the Portland Post Office fail to come through in due time. There is a screw loose somewhere between Walla Walla and the emporium, and we direct attention to the fact to the end that Postal Agent Brooks may investigate the matter, and remove all cause for complaint.

A NEW EXPRESS AGENT.

B Hazzard Stevens has succeeded Lewis Day as Agent of the O. S. N Company, at Walla Walla Of the retiring Agent, we have to say, that by his courteous manner of doing business he made hosts of friends We trust that his successor may be equally fortunate

STILL ANOTHER ANNIVERSARY —This is the anniversary of the issuance of a remarkable democratic proclamation, Jeff. Davis, at Amelia Court House, with Grant's Union army pricking him forward, Sheridan's bold riders pricking him back and his black destiny settling down upon him, issued a proclamation announcing the fall of Richmond, and declaring with chivalric braggadocio that he would never, NEVER submit to the abandonment of a single State of the Confederacy. The poor deluded man couldn't yet see the handwriting on the wall.

In imitation of their great prototype and leader, the Democracy of Oregon will meet to-day and celebrate the anniversary by issuing another proclamation announcing the FALL OF THE DALLES and declaring that they will never, NEVER abandon the attempt in the prosecution of which their leader came to grief They, too, are too blind to see the hand-writing on the wall: the snakes are already in their dog-days

> "III We shall publish all important Local News, not only of Portland, but of the State generally"—Prospectus Oregon Herald

Notwithstanding the above promise, the Herald omits to mention the defeat, demoralization and rout of the rebels at the Dalles, and its Democratic friends first learned of their misfortunes through the OREGONIAN Is not the Dalles in the State? or does Democratic defeat come so constantly and uniformly as to be not worth mention? We, however, shall take pleasure in supplying the public with all such omissions by the Herald

POSITIVELY DEMOCRATIC —We learn from the Herald of Friday that J W Moffat of Clatsop, upon receiving the nomination for Representative, made "a brief but pointed and positively Democratic speech" Was it positively Democratic according to the Dalles Jo Teal test? If so, Moffat is the proper man to be a Democratic candidate.

> Was it a Democrat that labored nineteen years to carry sixteen States out of the Union?—Herald

Our neighbor rather over-states the case A leading Democrat now residing at Fortress Monroe labored four years to carry eleven States out of the Union, and did not succeed The Herald has fallen into an inexcusable habit of exaggeration

> Sometimes we get politics on the brain a little ourselves, and long to pitch in and give somebody goss —Mountaineer

Well, why in the name of common sense don't you "pitch in" What is a newspaper made for that don't "pitch in and give somebody goss?" This keeping off of everybody's toes is a very stand still kind of way of getting ahead

THE NEW TELEGRAPH —The United States Telegraph Company last week started overland a large number of wagon loads of wire for the extension of their line to Salt Lake City

Notice.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE COMMON Council of the city of Portland propose to improve Morrison street in said city, between the west line of Front street and the east line of Second street by Grading and McAdamizing in manner similar to the improvement being made on Washington Street, except that portion within said limits which has been heretofore improved with Gravel, which will be improved by clearing said portion of all mud, clay loose stones gravel or other loose material and covering the same with broken stone of the size used as the finishing layer on Washington Street; said broken stone to be put on so that when the Street conforms to the grade, the broken stone will be at least six inches deep in the centre of the Street, and at least three inches deep at the gutter, with side walks of two inch plank and curbing of four inch plank of proper width
Published by order of the Common Council
H R. MEEKER,
Auditor and Clerk of the city of Portland
Portland, April 5, 1866. 10t

Notice to Whom it may Concern.

WHEREAS I did some eighteen months since very mildly inform the public that my wife had left my bed and whereas, some may have forgotten and some not have known thereof, and I have been presented with a bill for payment of her contracting, therefore be it known that Eliza Kerr, on the 6th day of September, 1864, did cruelly beat my son Eldon, and command me to do the same, for an offense reported to her by her little daughter, aged 4 years, upon these express conditions, that if I did not whip him I need never call her wife, which command I hesitated to perform, and in accordance therewith she retired, taking her three children to bed with her, which I suppose she has done ever since!
Therefore, I warn all persons from harboring or trusting her on my account, as I will pay no bills of her contracting

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task,
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate from day to day
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refit the WORN man,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength [illegible],
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory over Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME [illegible]!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so [illegible] and universally so [illegible] as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air,
Drink not unmixed the water found
In [illegible], woods or marshy ground;
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries,
Medicine's grand purpose [illegible]
Is threatened evil to prevent
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the [illegible],
[illegible] Bitters [illegible]
They are the surest [illegible]

To set at defiance the [illegible], the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work rooms and factories, and the [illegible] of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be fore-armed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS,

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind:
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant [illegible];
Colics and all [illegible] pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor [illegible];
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhœa that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom
Heralds of [illegible] or the tomb;
For these though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S, [illegible] medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of MAN, or WOMAN, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The regular weekly meeting of the City Council was held last evening at 8 o'clock, Mayor Falling presiding.

The following members were present:—Messrs Gilmore, [illegible], Plummer, Ross, Thompson, Strowbridge and Watkins.

The records of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A petition of the Chief Engineer recommending the [illegible] of hydrants on the corners of First street, and calling the attention of the Council to the condition of certain fire cisterns was referred to the committee on fire and water.

Messrs. Goodnough & Clark were allowed the use of a [illegible] of Front street for the removal of a building.

[illegible] for license to retail liquors at 44, Front street, also at the "Snug" on Morrison street, also at Holter's [illegible] and at 60 Front street, were referred to the committee on health and police.

Some discussion on the matter of referring was elicited. Mr Gilmore was opposed to the reference, as the only action the committee could take in the matter was to report favorably, under existing laws and he could see no use in referring the petitions. After the petitions were [illegible] of on motion the Judiciary committee were instructed to report an ordinance if deemed necessary, upon consulting with the City Attorney with regard to the subject matter of the discussion.

A petition of property owners along the line of Salmon street, asking for the improvement of that avenue by [illegible], from Front to Park street, was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

The committee on health and police reported favorably on the petition of Frank & Kessler, for a license to retail liquors at the Montana Exchange, and the report was adopted.

The same committee reported relative to the purchase of the Mt. Crawford Cemetery grounds, accompanying which was a communication from Mr Barrell, proprietor of the grounds, furnishing information upon the subject as [illegible] by the Council at the previous meeting. The report was adopted.

The communication of Mr Barrell shows that he purchased and enclosed, in 1855 ten acres, at the cost of $1,500. Has spent much valuable time in its care and has since added thirteen acres to it, making in all 23 acres. That he has received from all sources not a sufficient sum to pay for his services, the aggregate being less than $1,200. That he now proposes to sell the grounds to the city for the sum of $4,000.

The same committee reported in reference to A street [illegible], and recommended the committee on streets and public property to take the matter into consideration [illegible] notice for the improvement. Warrants were ordered [illegible] out of claims against the city, as follows: [illegible] Davison, tongue and jack for hook and ladder company $3; R. Pittock, rent of engine house for company [illegible] one month, $30; [illegible] for [illegible], March $244 50, [illegible] Council room, March, $10 25; Water for city for [illegible] P O'Leary, work on streets, $6 75.

[illegible] authorizing the Committee on Ways and [illegible] to purchase the Mount Crawford Cemetery [illegible] the third reading, and was laid on the [illegible] the next meeting, for final passage.

[illegible] on streets and public property, gave notice [illegible] improvement of Morrison street from [illegible] street, by McAdamizing.

[illegible] instructing the judiciary committee to report [illegible] for the [illegible] of [illegible] was adopted.

[illegible] Council adjourned.

[illegible] ADVERTISING.—Prof. Eastman, of Poughkeepsie, New York, recently delivered an address at [illegible] Illinois, upon the science of advertising. The [illegible] sums up what he terms the systematic and [illegible] method of advertising in a few words: "Arouse [illegible] excite, but never gratify." [illegible] was full of trite illustrations [illegible] the [illegible] of systematic advertising—[illegible] was cited to show the [illegible] of a lawyer at [illegible] or a doctor in some [illegible] town who [illegible] as if doing an immense business, when in reality [illegible] nothing whatever to do, and was eating [illegible]. Both became well known because [illegible] rush of business and people [illegible] him to be a good physician, which brought [illegible] and he is now wealthy. The thought [illegible] itself to us that the same principle is being [illegible] out by the steamer Pacific, of the California Steam [illegible] Co., now in port. Passengers who arrived by [illegible] say that they were not the least crowded [illegible] up, but the prolific list of names sent to [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co., for us to copy, would seem [illegible] that they were obliged to lay around every-[illegible]. Looking into the matter, there [illegible] to be a striking similarity in some of the names [illegible] and those that have appeared in the City Directory [illegible] years past, and gentlemen find themselves [illegible] as just arrived when they have not been out of [illegible]. The [illegible] Montana reports 98 passengers in the cabin.

[illegible] THE MONTANA.—The [illegible] Montana [illegible] Kelly, arrived yesterday morning from San Francisco [illegible] list of [illegible] and [illegible] under the appropriate heading: The Montana [illegible] obliged to land at three different wharves before [illegible] on account of the high water [illegible] of room at the usual steamship landing. [illegible] being at the landing first took up the [illegible] of D street. We should think the time [illegible] when Portland ought to be able to supply [illegible] for at least two [illegible] ships in all [illegible] they did [illegible] the same.

[illegible] A very amusing incident occurred [illegible] of New [illegible] street yesterday morning, when [illegible] of these [illegible] of the [illegible] House were [illegible] but luckily were saved with no [illegible] the harness, which was cut to pieces in [illegible]. A Chinaman was pitched [illegible] by a very clever [illegible] to gain the ship's deck. It was all [illegible] but John could not see it in that light. He [illegible] his [illegible] and exhibited evi-[illegible] of his [illegible] with regard to the Pacific coast [illegible] deep, loud and expressive [illegible] stealing [illegible] the gentleman [illegible] "You [illegible] you [illegible]"

[illegible] Mr. L. P. W. Quimby has become [illegible] with the well known host of the Western, Mr. [illegible], and what those gentlemen cannot do in the [illegible] of keeping a hotel on correct principles, none [illegible]. Both are as well and favorably [illegible] that it is not important for us to speak in terms [illegible] of the firm to those acquainted with the [illegible] that way to stay [illegible]. They may rest [illegible] that they will be made [illegible]

[illegible] that freight and [illegible] Dr Reid & Co, between Umatilla and Idaho has [illegible] that the [illegible] owners [illegible] largely of [illegible] to supply the [illegible]. Several [illegible] have arrived [illegible]. The new steamer [illegible], Capt. Myrick [illegible] for trips on [illegible] river now [illegible] from Farewell Bend; and a trip to [illegible] Salt Lake City will be a [illegible] excursion.

[illegible] Friday, partially in [illegible] five days yesterday upon [illegible] Frank Smith and his "woman" [illegible] and the writer was in [illegible] Anna's [illegible] sent to jail two days, on the [illegible]

[illegible]—White & Bancroft, 413 Washington street, [illegible] have sent us an abundance of late papers [illegible] of the continent. They have our thanks, [illegible] them to [illegible]. McCormick, the Franklin Book Store, Portland, has also [illegible] can be found in the State. Give [illegible] anything from the world at large.

[illegible]—The Commissioners of the County Court [illegible] petitions were presented for chan-[illegible]. Claims were [illegible] and a number [illegible] a new [illegible] was established [illegible] of the county, and designated [illegible] with the place of voting at the Fulton [illegible]. The line embraces all that part [illegible] of James [illegible] land claim.

THE LINCOLN HOUSE.—As will be seen by advertisement this morning, Mr. [illegible] J. Carter has taken full charge of the above large and [illegible] establishment. The Lincoln [illegible] is located in the central part of the city, and it will, [illegible] under the new management, sustain the good [illegible] it bears to the public.

[illegible]—The remains of Mrs. Wm. Morton, who [illegible] on the 5th of December last, arrived here by the bark A A Eldridge yesterday. The [illegible] will take place at 2 o'clock P M to-day from the [illegible] Church. Friends of the family are invited [illegible]

[illegible]—The bark A A Eldridge, Captain [illegible], twelve days to Columbia river from Honolulu [illegible] afternoon, in tow of the steamer John [illegible]. The cargo of the Eldridge consists of 3,183 [illegible] sugar, 135 mats rice, and 4 bales coffee. She is consigned [illegible] McCraken, Merrill & Co

A CHANGE.—Mr. E. N. Briggs, late of Los Angeles California, arrived by the Pacific, and will take charge of [illegible] of Wells, Fargo & Co. in this city. Mr W [illegible] Reid, who has been agent for the company here for several years past, will soon leave us for San Francisco.

STOCK SALE.—Kilbourn & Co will sell to-day at 10 o'clock one and one-half mile west of Portland, at John A. Cook's, fine work and stock cattle horses, sheep, hogs, &c.

THE RIVER.—After reaching ten feet and ten inches above low water mark, the water in the Willamette has again begun to recede, falling off two inches yesterday.

[illegible]—The schooner Alfred Crosby, which leaves [illegible] for Victoria, carries the following cargo: 200 boxes fruit, Seases merchandise, and one fanning-mill.

REV HORATIO STEBBINS, of San Francisco, was among the arrivals yesterday from below, by the steamer Montana.

[illegible]—Sylvester Simons, one of the contractors [illegible] down sidewalks on Madison street, was seriously injured yesterday by cutting his foot with an adz.

FIRE ALARM.—Another burning chimney called out the department last night about 9½ o'clock. This time the "fire" occurred at the corner of Main and Front streets.

[illegible]—The concert this evening will be well attended, and persons should apply early for seats.

IN THE RIVER.—The barkentine W. B. Scranton, and the bark [illegible] Allen, will both arrive to-day.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and secretory organs is singularly soothing and [illegible]. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the trials of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary [illegible]. Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork with plantation scene and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

Speech of Governor Gibbs.

DELIVERED BEFORE THE UNION STATE CONVENTION AT CORVALLIS, MARCH 29, 1866.

Governor Gibbs was loudly called for, and on being introduced to the Convention, said:

Mr. President, Gentlemen of the Convention and Fellow-citizens:—If our worthy State Treasurer had been present, he would doubtless have responded to your call by directing your attention to the present financial condition of the State. I can assure you from the intimate relations which I have sustained towards your honorable Treasurer and Secretary of State, and from my own personal knowledge, I know that the financial condition of this State will not compare unfavorably with the financial condition of any other State in the American Union [Applause.] I say it with a degree of pride and satisfaction that I can hardly express, that the financial condition of Oregon stands first and foremost in a favorable point of view amongst the States of our glorious Republic [Applause.] Let me, for a moment, call your attention to a few facts which will demonstrate the truth of the assertion I have made There are to-day $99,000 in the State treasury, and there are $41,000 due the State from the various counties which, when paid in, will make over $140,000 on hand, and there is not a single dollar of indebtedness except the bonds which will be due our soldiers, ten and twenty years hence The taxes which have been paid in our State are less than those which have been paid in any other State since the breaking out of the late wicked war against the Union Public documents on file show that the rate of taxation in Oregon is less than the rate of taxation in a majority of the other States of the Union. And I may say, though somewhat to our disgrace, that we have paid the smallest sums as bounties to our soldiers of any other State California has raised more men in proportion to her population, and has paid them higher bounties than we, while in the Eastern States from seven to eleven hundred dollars have been paid per man, in consequence of which the indebtedness of those States now ranges from eleven to forty millions of dollars. Does this not speak well for the financial condition of Oregon? [Cries of "yes, yes," and applause.]

Now let me call your attention to the opposition which was made to paying our soldiers. What did the Democracy say to this? In the first place they were opposed to responding to the call of the President for troops to relieve the regulars then stationed here, so that those experienced soldiers might go East, in defense of the national existence. The call was not made by the proper authority, they said, and they were not needed anyhow. When the news from Washington gave the lie to this, they were silenced on that point, but did not give up their opposition, for they were opposed to coercing their dear brethren down South When this proposition to pay our soldiers a small bounty came before the Legislature, every Democrat there voted against it, and every Democratic paper in the State denounced it as wrong and unjust. They said it was in violation of that part of the Constitution of Oregon which prohibits the Legislative Assembly from creating a debt to exceed fifty thousand dollars "except in case of war or to repel invasion, or suppress insurrection." The Constitution of California is similar in this respect, to our own, and, at the commencement of the war, they incurred a debt of more than fifty thousand dollars to defray the expenses of a school for officers, which was deemed necessary to put the State in a proper condition of safety. The question as to the legality of the law came before the Supreme Court of that State, and it was decided thereon I have no doubt it would be decided in Oregon, that the country was in a state of war and that the members of the Legislature are the proper judges of the fact; that the debt was binding, and not in violation of the Constitution. I think there can be no reasonable doubt about the matter.

But fellow citizens, there is another unpleasant fact in this connection about the democracy. Their opposition to those bonds had a tendency to [illegible] the price of them so that the brave defenders of our liberties were obliged to sell their bonds at a great sacrifice; and, in some instances, while some of the democrats were trying to make people believe the law unconstitutional and therefore void, they had private agents in the city of Portland, and in Vancouver and other places, purchasing [illegible] for speculative purposes, or as a safe investment of capital. Such has been the record of the democracy in this regard, but I am not surprised at it. Why should I be? I recollect that a little less than four years ago, when Judge Wait was a candidate for Congress, and soon after, the call for 75,000 Volunteers, he made a speech in this town in which he denounced that call as an act entirely unauthorized and unwarranted on the part of the President of the United States. And yet I am not surprised that he should have [illegible] the democratic party has taken from the beginning relative to this war. The fact is, the war was a democratic concern, initiated by democrats, and they must bear the responsibility attending it. [Applause.] It was the democratic party of this nation that committed treason. Treason is a crime punishable with death. The democratic party has killed itself. It is dead, and it now only remains for us to bury it. [Applause.]

From the very time that President Lincoln showed a determination to put down the rebellion by force of arms, he was denounced as a usurper, and almost every foul word that could be thought of was hurled against him. Every act which had for its object the preservation of the Union was denounced as unconstitutional, unnecessary or imbecile. What do these things show? These well known facts serve to remind us that this democratic party which now comes forward claiming to be so patriotic and to have such a glorious record is [illegible] the most gigantic [illegible] into which it has been plunged. The cry of these faint-hearted [illegible] was "Peace! compromise!" All this too, when it was apparent to the dullest [illegible] that the blow which was aimed at the heart of this nation should be, and could alone be met by force and by force repelled. Such was the course pursued by the democracy. I listened to a speaker in Salem, as did also some of you who are here to-night, who said that the policy of the Government at the watch-word should have been: "Hands off!" Now had this course been pursued, what would have been the result? We would have been a Southern Confederacy. Would they have been satisfied with that? You will remember what was said by high rebel authority in Montgomery on the reception of the news of the capture of Sumter. An immense crowd serenaded Jeff. Davis, and his Secretary of War, Leroy P. Walker, at the Exchange Hotel in Montgomery, Alabama Davis was too sick to talk, but sent his Secretary, who, in a speech from the balcony, said:

> "No man can tell where the war commenced this day will end. But I will prophecy that the flag which now flaunts the breeze here will float over the dome of the old Capitol at Washington, before the first of May. Let them try Southern chivalry and test the extent of Southern resources, and it may float eventually over Faneuil Hall itself."

They didn't intend to stop with a Confederacy on Southern soil, but would extend the borders of their chivalrous government northward. There is no doubt of it.

The Democratic party was in open sympathy with the rebels, and did all they could for them in the North. There is one who listens to me now who will bear me witness, as many others elsewhere can, that here in Oregon he heard a Democratic speaker use these words before an audience: "Abraham Lincoln is a tyrant, and opposition to tyrants is obedience to God." Do you wonder, then, fellow-citizens, that when the Democrats found they could not carry out their schemes, they were prepared for murder and assassination? [Sensation.] Others will bear me witness to-night, that at Eugene City, two years ago, one of their stump orators said that the Union "soldiers that went South were murderers, thieves and robbers." That was the language used there, and more than three hundred Democrats from Long Tom, and other places, listened with admiration to these sentiments. While they believed that the South could not be conquered, they believed these things. When we met with reverses they would say, "We told you so Eight millions of people were never conquered," and so on They said this was an abolition war, got up for the sole purpose of freeing the slaves of the South I am surprised that some of our people are still so ignorant of historical facts as to really believe such talk. If that was the motive power of the North, why did not some of the many thousands of the North who took part in the late war go down and join old John Brown? They had a better opportunity then than afterwards when old Floyd had scattered the navy to the four quarters of the globe, and nearly all the arms and munitions of war had been sent South But our political enemies seem to think we have forgotten the history of the past few years Who does not remember the manner in which Fort Sumter fell? When Major Anderson was called upon (that gallant and good man) and asked to surrender that fort, he told them that he would not surrender, but that he would probably be "starved out in a few days." This was on the 11th of April, 1861 Early on the morning of the next day the rebels sent word to Anderson that if he would name the time when he would evacuate the fort and would agree not to fire in the meantime upon the batteries unless they fired upon him, no fire would be opened upon Sumter Maj Anderson, in reply, agreed to leave the fort on the 15th—three days afterwards—and not to open fire in the meantime, except in self defense Notwithstanding this, within one hour after this interview took place the rebels opened fire upon the fort and thus deliberately begun the war. If they really wished to avoid bloodshed, why did they not wait a few days and quietly take possession of the place? Instead of doing so they battered down a fort which had cost the Government half a million of dollars, and imperiled the lives of our brave soldiers—disgracefully fired upon the stars and stripes. And this is but one of the many facts which show conclusively that the war was begun by these chivalrous Southerners themselves But, follow citizens, I have thought sometimes that if it was an abolition war, it has brought about results over which we have no tears to shed—the liberation of four millions of human beings [Applause.] Two hundred years from now, when the historian shall record the glorious achievements of the present age, upon one of his most beautiful pages, inscribed in imperishable letter, will appear the fact that among the fruits of the late war was the severing of the bonds which had held for two hundred years in the most galling servitude four millions of human beings [Loud applause.]

Now fellow citizens can it be that a party with such antecedents as these can succeed before the Union loving men of this nation? ["No, no."] I know that they have made their boast that they are going to carry this State next June. They have invited democrats from east of the Rocky mountains and hundreds—perhaps thousands—of them are now in Oregon who have borne arms willingly against our Government They have come here to escape the curse that rests upon them in their old homes No doubt there are many of them in this State whose hands have been dyed in the blood of patriots—refugees from Price's army. Some of them when landed in Portland not many months ago were asked if they were now willing to give up their ideas of destroying the Union One of them in reply, said, No, the thing has got to be fought over again, and if I do not live to help do it my boy here (pointing to his child) will take my place. Now can it be that a Union man, even if he is not pleased with the manner in which some of the nominations were made, will give his support to the Democratic party? Surely not. Why should he? Its record abounds with evidences of its treason That this so-called Democratic party is really a secession party we need no further evidence than the facts to which I have already called your attention But if we did not have their record before us, the simple fact that those who come here from the rebel armies instinctively join the Democratic party is enough to warn all Union men to beware of the organization into which they enter You will find that every ex-bushwhacker and ex-Confederate is now a Democrat and will vote the ticket. This is well understood throughout the length and breadth of the land. The leaders of the rebellion knew very well that their chief hope was in the success of their friends in the North, and they watched with absorbing interest the progress of the last Presidential campaign. The evidence is overwhelming and conclusive that when the news spread over the South that that pure, great man, Abraham Lincoln, was elected, they gave up all hope. It completely demoralized them, because they knew by it that their sympathisers in the North were in a hopeless minority.

I fear I am detaining you too long. [Cries of "no, go on."] Well, we are told that now, since the war is over, there is no necessity of keeping up the Union party in Oregon. Fellow-citizens, because some of the causes for which the Union party was organized have been decided, does it now follow of necessity, that the party which has served so good a purpose, should be disbanded before its work is done, thus giving into the hands of its enemies the Government which they did all in their power to destroy? ["No, never."] Very far from it. And is there any disposition on the part of the Democratic party to make amends for their past misconduct? In New Orleans they have elected a man Mayor of the city who refused for two years to take an oath of allegiance to the United States! Restore them to power again! No necessity for the organization! Why, look at the necessity upon every hand. It towers up before us, and is so apparent, that the most stupid may see it. Would they not reinstate men whose hands are dyed in the blood of our soldiers? Would they not re-establish slavery? They have harped upon the word "abolition until they have made it honorable to bear the name. [Applause and laughter.] I will ask you, fellow-citizens, if you believed slavery was a divine institution, that it was right and that it was unconstitutional to abolish it, would you not, as honest men, consider it your duty to re-establish it if you could? ["Of course, we would."] Why, certainly you would; and I say all those who have always so bitterly opposed its abolition, would do so if they could. Our fathers, to whom Mr. Adams paid a high tribute this evening, provided a way in which slavery should be abolished by amendments to the Constitution, but when the time came for carrying out their beneficial designs, those slavery-loving Democrats discovered that it was a divine institution, and they opposed everything that was prejudicial to it. Even after the rebellion had shown the wickedness of the slave power, and had arrayed all good men in opposition to it, and the opportunity was offered for our State to make a bright record for freedom, there was not a Democrat in Oregon, to my knowledge, who did not object to the proposition to amend the national Constitution so as to abolish slavery. All their newspapers here opposed it. Sometimes they would appeal not to reason, but to the pocket argument, and one of their speakers down in Yamhill county in a spirit of great disgust, said that "old Gibbs had called the legislature together at an awful expense." I have not figured on it myself, but Ben. Hayden says it will cost $190,000 It seems to me that's a big calculation, but then, Ben. says so, [Laughter.] when, in fact, it only cost five thousand dollars for our State to place its name upon the roll of honor.

W. C Whitson, from Polk county—I was just going to say that it is said up in Dallas, where Ben. lives, that he "can't work a sum in addition?" so I don't see how he arrived at the result. [Laughter.]

A delegate from Polk,—"Got Outhouse to do it I suppose. (Renewed laughter.)

Gov. Gibbs, (continuing)—"Well, perhaps some one else did it. There is another thing. They would not only try to re-establish slavery, but they would repudiate the national debt, and try to assume the rebel debt. They would if they could, deprive our wounded soldiers of the pittance which a grateful country gives them in return for the sacrifices they have made in her defense. They would rob our disabled soldiers, even those who have lost an eye or a leg in the nation's defense, unless they could secure equal bounties to the men who fought against us Not only that, but they would assume the rebel debt, and pay every dollar of it, or repudiate the national obligation incurred during the war. Now, I claim that these are legitimate conclusions from the course they have heretofore taken. They have approved the sentiment that our soldiers are "thieves, murderers and robbers," that Lincoln was a tyrant, that the late war was all wrong on our part, and that the only proper course was to compromise. If they believed all these things—and they said they did—then our conclusions are irresistible They said these things when and where it was unpopular to say them Hence we must infer that they were speaking their sentiments. Now, to be consistent with their past conduct, they must say to the South, "You have been wronged. We beg pardon and we will make this thing up to you" (Laughter and applause.) But how idle are their hopes of success! Why even New Jersey has been taken by the Abolitionists! (Laughter.) Petroleum V. Nasby no longer considers it the "Saint's Rest" but has left the State in disgust. (Convulsive laughter.) Poor Nasby! He is now "on the wing" If he were here, I have no doubt but that Dr Loryea would have him before two weeks (Laughter.) A few weeks ago, I remember they said they were going to carry the State of Oregon at the coming election by a large majority, and even yet they are trying to humbug the people into this belief Now, according to their own authority, they have very little reason to expect a triumph. Gen. Lane once said that the "American people are always in favor of the last war, and ready to pitch into the next" The Democratic party used to say, though in a rather immodest way, I think that "To the victors belong the spoils" I do not admire this expression, but if the motto is good, let us see how it will work now The men who left their wives and little ones at home, young men just entering upon the stage of action, with all the buoyancy and hope of early manhood, who left pleasant homes and avocations to brave the enemies of our country on the battle field, or to die in the rice swamps of the South, they are the men who ought to be, and who will be, remembered by the American people [Loud and long continued applause.] There is no doubt of it I say those are the men who ought to be rewarded, now that they have won the victory The comfortable offices of the country ought to be given to a great extent, if not wholly, to those men who have borne their breasts to the storm of bullets, and no man who has not stood up for his country should be honored with our votes. And I believe no such man ever will be, unless the people should be deceived in the man During the war every man in the United States had the opportunity of making a good, or a bad record, as he might choose. Although in Oregon, we were too far away to help fight the battles of our country, yet we could uphold the Government here, and help our soldiers by contributions to those noble charities, the Sanitary and Christian Commissions, and every man among us who is worthy the name of an American, gave gladly according to his means.

We told them that we believed in the purity of the people In some places, even here in Oregon, our flag was said to be nothing more than a hateful rag, and they have even refused to raise that flag on proper occasions, and they have boasted that the Confederacy was bound to be a success, and amused themselves by drinking to the health of Jeff Davis We ought to remember these things and stand by the men who have stood by the country [Applause.]

Have their predictions been confirmed? Who to-night says cotton is king? Has their Confederacy been recognized? What has become of their idle boasts? On the contrary we have done all that we said we would do That flag which is endeared to us by a thousand glorious memories—endeared to us by the recollections which are associated with more than two hundred battle fields, over which it has waved during the late successful strife for the preservation of our beloved Republic—that flag, thank God now floats in triumph over our undivided and regenerated country [Applause.] And now, in conclusion, fellow citizens, let me repeat, as a fitting motto for all time to come, that noble sentiment of General Dix, "If any man attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot"

On resuming his seat, three cheers were given for Governor Gibbs with great enthusiasm

THE CATTLE DISEASE.—At length there is good reason to believe medical science has discovered the nature of the disease in cattle which has produced such disastrous effects in England and Scotland The proof is almost conclusive that if not the variola, or small pox that affects the human subject, it is analogous to it. The reason why this disease has not been made before is, that in cattle the thickness of the hide prevents the eruptions from appearing externally, as in man, and, as the virus could not be thrown off, the animal invariably died The nature of the disease being known, recourse was had at once to vaccination The result has been most satisfactory The several numbers of the London Times brought by the last mails, have scores of letters attesting the efficacy of vaccine as a curative agent. The true pock is obtained from a child. The lymph taken from cow to cow cannot be depended upon, it will produce a cutaneous effect, but no constitutional good.

NORTHERN ORGAN.—The rebels still run an "organ" in New York city, entitled the Metropolitan Record. The Record is owned and edited by an Irishman named Mullaly: it keeps up the old issues, ridicules the "Yankees," and publishes three poems, one in glorification of Gen Lee as the "noblest American," another in honor of the rebel leaders generally, including Polk, Forrest, Magruder and others, and a third in which the spirits of Washington and Stonewall Jackson are seen "hand joined in hand," and in which it is predicted that the South will yet "regain her liberty" The Record used to be a "religious" paper and a Roman Catholic organ, but it now professes to be a "secular Democratic journal" It is a unique concern

OLD STATUES FOUND.—A statue of the Emperor Claudius has been exumed at Civita Lavinia, Italy, among the ruins of an ancient temple. The features, by their expression, confirm the traditions respecting the Emperor's stupidity.

An ancient bust, probably of Diana, was brought up from a depth of fourteen feet under the mud, by the workmen, who were excavating a new port in Malta.

LOYAL TENNESSEE.—Of the twenty-three daily and weekly newspapers now published in Tennessee, sixteen are the rank rebel article, and but seven loyal to the Union in letter or spirit. The sixteen rebellious sheets, like the Call and its sixteen confederates in California, (including the Examiner and Express) are all true to "Moses" Johnson.

"Ah!" said a conceited young parson, "I have this afternoon been preaching to a congregation of asses." "Then, that was the reason why you called them beloved brethren," replied a strong-minded lady.

Prices Greatly Reduced!
Prices Greatly Reduced!

THE LEFFEL'S
American Double Turbine Water Wheel

IS NOW MANUFACTURED BY THE OREGON IRON Works, in the city of Portland, and orders for the same can be filled immediately. We have a small supply of the different sizes, from 10 inches to 48 inches in diameter. That we may know the proper sized wheel you require, measure your water in the following way: Take the width of the stream, the average depth, and the distance it flows in a minute.

All the wheels now in use give universal satisfaction. Both the construction of the wheel and its performance, commend it to the better judgment of all minds capable of appreciating the highest development of mechanical construction Therefore it has conquered the most violent opposition.

This wheel is especially adapted to mining purposes. It is light, and can be easily packed into the mountains. Wheels weighing from 100 to 300 pounds will yield from 10 to 40 horse power, under a head of 25 or 30 feet. They are the cheapest wheel to set up known, as they are so arranged as to produce the greatest power possible from the water used.

The prices of these wheels have now been reduced to the ability of all. Come and see them or send for a circular to   LEFFEL & MYERS,

THAT OLD GREENBACK CASE!

I am still obliged to accept of Legal Tender Notes at Par (and have been since Dec 17, 1862, for the rent of my Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public, that JACOB MAYER Leased the building of me Feb. 17, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were Cash Since the date above stated, I have received the depreciated currency regularly for the rent of the CITY OF PARIS STORE! making less than two fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract, and pay in Coin, would be getting the best bargain in the city I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantages of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING The public can readily see how much it costs to have such tenants in such costly buildings as the one referred to above.
